Club Honored with RI President's Citation

By Glen Rojas

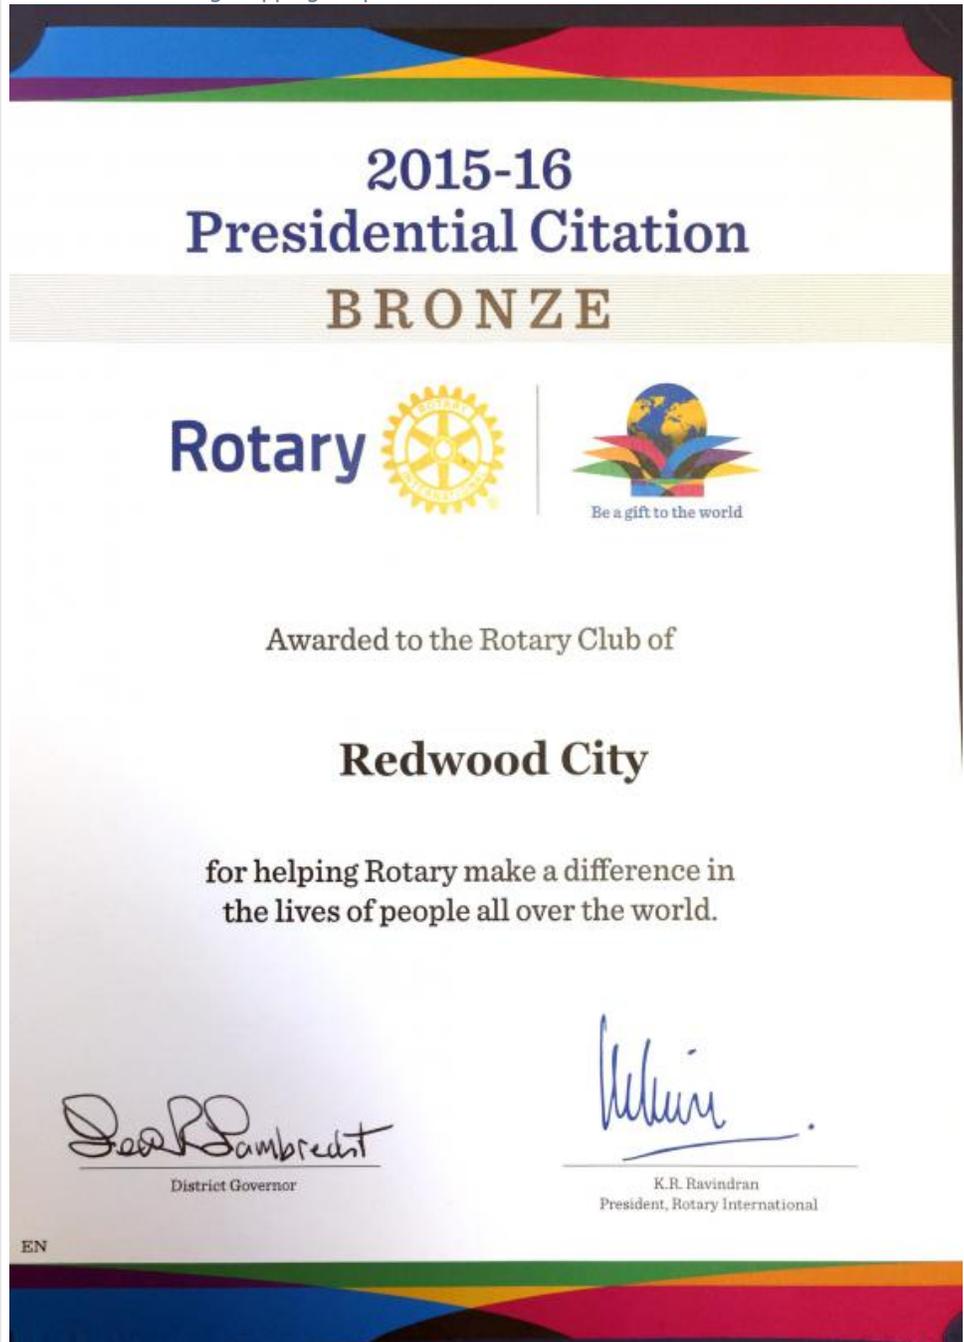

2016-07-13

The Rotary Club of Redwood City was one of a handful of clubs to be honored with the Rotary International President's Citation for RY 2015-16. This award is based on a set of criteria established by Rotary International that aims to improve the overall performance, community position and outreach of clubs at a local level.

District 5150 Former Assistant District Governor Glen Rojas presented the 2015-16 Presidential Citation to Immediate Past President John McAfee at the club meeting on July 12, 2016. Glen shared a list of the club's accomplishments covering RY 2015-16 that included the induction of new members, participation in local and international projects, community involvement and fundraising, participation in Foundation Programs at the local, district and international levels along with noting the club's efforts to align itself with RI branding standards and social media presence.

Past President John McAfee thanked the 2015-16 Board of Directors for their support and leadership and noted that it takes involvement from all club members to make this type of recognition possible. Current President Jeff Hayden noted that last year's successes give the club an amazing stepping off point for 2016-17.

Donations were presented to STAR Camp, the Salvation Army, PCC, the YMCA and other local charities. Lt. Francine Huck from the Salvation Army indicated, "This grant will help us serve the local community by providing needed services to at risk populations."

These grants demonstrate the coordinated effort of local charities and Rotary in helping those in need.
