Rome Braves

One of the annual rites of spring is the return of baseball to green fields around the country. The Atlanta Braves started their season last week with a winning series against the Philadelphia Phillies. Not to be outdone, their younger brothers in the team's farm system are getting ready to start their own season in Rome. Last week, Rome Braves team representatives Jim Jones and Jeff Fletcher visited our club to discuss the team's chances this year and also discuss some of the future Atlanta stars they expect to be playing in Rome this spring. They also discussed different ticket packages and options that are available for baseball fans who want to come see the future of the Braves. Information about the team and the schedule can be found online at www.romebraves.com.
