Isabel Vinterbladh, our Georgia Rotary Student Participant

By: Kathryn Sellers

Host family, Mel Abernathy, introduced Isabel Vinterbladh, this year's exchange student who will be attending Dalton State College. Isabel has just returned from the weekend conclave at which she met all the other Georgia students from all over the world. Mel explained that this part of the project helps the students to make life-long friends who share their differences and soon learn that there are more similarities than they ever imagined. The opportunity for Isabel to get to know Dalton, Dalton State and our country is the focus of the exchange program. But getting to know students from all over the world also helps Americans to have a greater understanding of those from other lands. This camaraderie between peoples of every corner of the earth promotes peace throughout the world.

Isabel explained that Sweden, a country of 9.7 million people is very different from north to south. The north contains many mountains and with only 3 months of summer is very cold and lightly populated. Her home, Malmo, in the south has four seasons, a river and encourages walking, biking and public transportation. A 10 mile-long bridge connects Malmo to Copenhagen where her father works as an air traffic controller. Her mother is an economist in a local business.

Isabel finished her high school and focused on the natural sciences. She loves to travel, to read and dances ballet. And she, of course, is very interested in learning about other cultures.

At Dalton State, she is taking chemistry, biology, calculus and social studies. When asked about her excellent English, she said she stated English in the third grade.

Rotarians are asked to include Isabel in any family activities during her year here. She would enjoy sports events, outdoor activities and taking part in any typical activities with your family. Please call her on her cell if you wish to have her interact with your family: 706.934.2894.
