Peachtree Parkway Improvement District

Peachtree Parkway, a/k/a Georgia Highway 141, runs in Forsyth County from Highway 9 all the way down to McGinnis Ferry Road. It is a major thoroughfare connecting Cumming, Georgia 400, and Johns Creek, and is traveled by tens of thousands of cars every day.

The Peachtree Parkway Improvement District is a group of dedicated business owners and residents that are committed to enhancing and improving the appearance of Peachtree Parkway in South Forsyth. The PPID believes that creating an aesthetically pleasing thoroughfare will help to brand our area as a community that cares, and will attract high quality businesses and residential developments that add value to Forsyth County.

Carter Patterson, with Forte Data Systems, Incorporated, is the current Chairperson for the Peachtree Parkway Improvement District, and will join us on June 30th to talk about the efforts of the PPID and the future for this critical road in our community.

Last Meeting of the Rotary Year

This is the last meeting of our Rotary Year! Please remember that we are taking next week, July 7th, off in observance of Independence Day.

On a personal note, I will not be with you in the morning as I have been called-in to trial. I had intended to thank you all for allowing me to be your president over the past year, but unfortunately professional obligations call me away. So, I will say it now (and after the start of the new Rotary year): THANK YOU. It has been an honor to serve you and lead this club.
