Review of Meeting 3/2/10

By Bob Wetzler

Our weekly meeting was opened by our President, Mary Anne Rishebarger, followed by our Past President, Richard Holland, with our National Anthem and the Pledge.

Karl Silex gave News & Welfare. Nobody is on Welfare—that’s good news.

Mary Anne presented two Paul Harris fellowships to our speakers. The first one to Doreen Bolger, Director of the Baltimore Museum of Art since 1998. The second one to Jean W. Brune, the head of Roland Park Country School since July 9, 1992.

Our speakers (2) were introduced by Mary Anne.

Jean Brune is the seventh head of Roland Park and the first alumni to serve in this position. Jean is a graduate of Middlebury College and was magna cum laude, also elected to Phi Beta Kapp. Before RPCS she was at Gilman School as a teacher for 24 years. Jean has received many awards and also has served on several boards.

Our 2nd Paul Harris Fellow was Doreen Bolger the director of the Baltimore Museum of Art since 1998. Doreen has been leading the museum in a $65 million fundraising campaign to increase endowment. As of June 2008, $40 million has been raised. There is no admission fee to visit the B.M.A.

Doreen has also served as Director of the Museum of Art in Rhode Island School of Design and spent 15 years as a member of the curatorial staff at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in NY. She chairs several boards and serves on many in the area.

Both Ms. Brune and Ms. Bolger answered questions.

The 50/50 for non Rotarians was $19 and for Rotarians $649-no luck.

Dr. Leslie Mancuso is the President and CEO of Jhpiego, an international non-profit health organization affiliated with the Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Maryland.

Dr. Mancuso offers a rare blend of experience within the world of international public health: a nurse, with years of experience in clinical settings and academia, she is a recognized international business leader with a track record of success for bringing accountability and navigating change in the international nonprofit world. Dr. Mancuso has worked for over 20 years developing public/private partnerships to help improve the health of women and families.

Following a 13 year career with Project HOPE serving as their COO and then CEO, Dr. Mancuso came to Jhpiego in 2002. Under her leadership, Jhpiego grew from a $5 to $62 million organization, increasing its programs from four to 70 and serving the needs of over 55 countries today.

Dr. Mancuso oversees Jhpiego’s longstanding and extensive relations with international agencies, ministries of health and education, nursing, midwifery and medical schools, professional associations and local non-governmental organizations.

Dr. Mancuso’s academic credentials are strong: she received her undergraduate degree in nursing from Southern Connecticut University, a master’s degree in nursing from the University of Pennsylvania School of Nursing and a doctoral degree in organizational leadership from the University of Pennsylvania. She completed the Executive Leadership Program at the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University to round out her understanding to the business of health care at the intersections of government, business and public policy.

Through her career in international public health, she was able to combine her love of nursing—the ability to look at problems and issues within a greater context, as nurses are routinely required to do in patient care—with her natural aptitude for business management and organizational change, to develop into a nurse-executive.

Dr. Mancuso is a Fellow of the American Academy of Nursing and The American Society of Association Executives & The Center for Association Leadership. She has received numerous honors, including the Archon Award, Honor Society of Nursing, the Lilian Sholtis Brunner Award for Innovative Practice in Nursing from the University of Pennsylvania School of Nursing, Maryland’s Top 100 Women Award for 2008 by the Daily Record, and the Maryland International Business Leadership Award from the World Trade Center Institute. Dr. Mancuso received an Honorary Doctor of Science degree from Shenandoah University.
