The bell sounds and the second meeting of the new year starts with President Sam Steele welcoming us all. Thanking all who helped kick off the first meeting, the Great BBQ held at the Rotary Bandstand in Carnegie Park, President Sam gave gratitude and acknowledgement to the many hands that made the first meeting a success. --Good Music, Good Food, Good Fellowship, Good Team Support.

for the meeting. Fortunately the words of the song are on the screen, as the one chord song The Electric Wave, (in honor of speaker Jay Davis's presentation on Science at the Lab) was not known by many. With their strong leadership, we all managed to find the tune. Great "strumming".

Mark Stoker gave an impressive Thought For The Day, using the analogy of the 4 Way Test, Warriors Success and the meaning of club membership and participation in fundraising. Summarized, we share a common goal of service to others, and each of us as a team member contributes to the success of the Rotary community. In order for our club to be successful in serving the community it is absolutely necessary for all to work together in support of the many projects and fundraising efforts. "Every team player contributes to the success of the team". We look forward to a great year of teamwork. Mark and his committee will keep us informed on how we can be participants.

Wow... something NEW! Be prepared for the next meeting. If you are sitting next to a Red Badger you will be invited to say a few words to showcase this new member. This is a great idea!

Lynn Monica, Sundance Hill gave a short presentation thanking us for the team effort to build the Greenhouse Shed. Their foundation is in the process of fundraising to support two housing units, one in Livermore and one in Pleasanton. The focus of the organization is to support adults with special needs through life-long resiliency options and quality activities. Current estimates indicate Livermore has 900 special needs adults living primarily with their families.

Congratulations also to the two new board members to the Livermore Rotary Foundation...but I did not get their names... oops.

Wednesday Social was at the Mitchell Katz Winery.

Our guest speaker today is Jay Davis, who is also celebrating his 75th Birthday! A big chorus of birthday melody broke forth in his honor.

Jay is retired and works as a sharecropper at a small Vineyard in Livermore. He is currently in a 12 step program NOT to return to Washington DC to consult in the many areas that are so secret that he cannot really talk about it. However, his contributions to this country and its safety, his leadership in the scientific field, his innovation in research, his mentoring of science fellows, are reflections of his commitment to service and science.

Jay gave an overview of the National Laboratory in Livermore, past history, current focus in major areas of scientific development, change in administration of who controls what is financed, and how the major areas of research are determined. He asked the question to those seeking money for projects: "Is your project good enough to cut a sub in half". In order to do his speech justice, please refer to the audio on-line Rotary meeting. I stopped taking notes because it was more fascinating to just listen to his presentation. Thank you Jay Davis for sharing your time and talents with us.

The Great ticket pull. You would think that Sam would not win. Wrong, he bought three tickets, gave two away, and his ticket was pulled for the drawing. Oh to have so much mojo!
